#Fable #GrowingUp #Absences

Written with the usual sensitivity and masterful hand of the author of The Memory of the Tree, sold to 20 languages.

“ The subtle portrait of a boy not allowed to be a child, and his daily struggle to chase away fears and loneliness. Indeed, the story of many children who carry big responsibilities too soon. ”

Maic is a boy who has to grow up before his time: while he has to take care of his brother, his mother spends the day away from home trying to find the perfect father. Thus, he has a non-father who is only conspicuous by his absence, and a grandmother who went to live far away and now only calls him on his birthday. All this makes Maic develop whirlpools in his belly button, so unbearable that he thinks he will break in half. His distraction is his neighbors on the stairs: Mrs. Pillows, for example, who gives soft and warm hugs, or Mr. and Mrs. Stories, who are the only ones who listen to him. All of them, each in their own way, save his lonely afternoons, while he waits for his mother to return, for his grandmother to call, for his brother to be there for a while, for his non-father to suddenly appear. Maic's mother is looking for the perfect father, and he hopes she'll find him soon because being the man of the house is hard to bear.

“ The main protagonist that captivate the reader from the start. And the story moves thanks also to how the chapters have been structured and how the rest of the characters enter the scene. ”

Praises:

«With maximum ambition, Vallès manages to deeply express the intimate nature of the silences of everyday life» (El País).

«With her own vision, not a fan of trends, who goes her own way. Her sensitivity and tenderness are born from a structured and precise mind» (VilaWeb).

The little-known story of two rebellious characters: a young aristocrat who revolts against the impositions on her sex and a warrior who has come from the end of the world with a soul shaken by war.

Blanca is the young sister-in-law of the pretender to the crown of Spain against Queen Isabel, that decides to accompany her husband at war.

Despite his initial rejection, she is determined to learn fencing and become one soldier more among the troops and allies. Near by where the battles are taking place, there is Okita Sōji, the last bushi of the shogun's guard in Japan. He is staying with a French samurai friend who gives him refuge. He will become Blanca's teacher. Both, the princess and the samurai, will penetrate the harsh lands of La Garrotxa (Catalonia) to face their respective destinies. She will fight as a man, he will protect her always from aside.

The Double Life of Okita Sōji is a novel based on the lives of two exceptional historical figures that speaks of courage and overcoming, as well as loyalty, love and honor. It portrays with delicacy and mastery a surprising clash of cultures and introduces us fully to the paths of La Garrotxa at the end of the 19th century.

It's said that when one faces death, one sees its own life as a film. In this book, the reader accompanies the main character in this allegorical and exquisite journey.
 Short episodes, quick read, highly emotional, from sensitive to grotesque.

Someone is lost and explains what is happening to him in a place he does not know.

Trying to find his way back, in his line from diagnoses to death, he discovers amazing places and encounters a group of unique characters who often relate to people he has met or to experiences that have marked his life. That is why the journey he makes, with a precise memory, is both a return and a discovery; if it takes on an increasingly initiatory air it is because the story points to the undressing of the essential things.

Narrated from short and striking scenes, chiseled in a poetic and concise style, Torno a casa (Back Home) invites the reader to a travel from which no one has returned. A journey to the heart of the mystery.

THE WOMAN OF THE CADILLAC EXPOSES THE SECRET LIVES OF A SMALL TOWN WHERE EVERYONE, AS WELL AS THE READER, HAS ITS HIDDEN MONSTERS AND GHOSTS.

JOAN CARRERAS SHOWS WITH THIS BOOK THAT LITERARY QUALITY DOES NOT CONFLICT WITH THE VOCATION TO WRITE FOR THE GENERAL PUBLIC.

AWARD-WINNING AUTHOR CIUTAT DE BARCELONA AND PREMI SANT JORDI.

A thrilling novel full of intrigue and mysteries about guilt.

The man who arrives to the town of Mompug has a very simple mission: talk to Helena Bau and buy her the Cadillac she keeps in a garage. But things are never what they seem. Some neighbors do not welcome the presence of a stranger. Those who run the bar, nor the guy at the gas station, nor his unclear business uncle. All conceal their reasons and all ignore the real scope of the mystery. An absorbing, accurate and re-sounding novel that speaks of the weight of a past.

Pollença Award jury:

The novel captivates readers by the human depth of the protagonists, by the emotionality of the dialogues and situations and by a vigorous prose full of memorable images.

There is a high degree of intimacy, complexity, contradiction, humanity, and sensitivity in the narrative and in the bonds between the female characters.

The characters are very well drawn and escape the simplism and thick lines. It is a novel that avoids stereotypes

Mothers and daughters forced to share the wounds and a story of the second chances that rarely come in our lives.

After 30 years, the protagonist meets again her nonagenarian grandmother who lives in a residence and suffers from advanced dementia. The impact of this meeting leads her to remember her childhood marked by the divorce of her parents in the 80s, the depression of her mother and the relationship she establishes with her grandparents and with her father. When she tries to put in order a series of past scenes we discover an introverted girl who watches the family's defeat from a silent distance. Between those memories of a grandmother and a mother who never knew how to be a grandmother and a mother, the protagonist must decide what mother she wants to be for her daughter.

«SHOCKING. AN EXCELLENT AND DARING BOOK. A TABOO [ABOUT MOTHERS] THAT IS GOING DOWN.»

A vindication of the too often forgotten women artist. From muses to creators.

Fictional characters meet with personalities such as Picasso, Modigliani or Gertrude Stein, and also with women who marked the art scene but remained in the shadows.

In 1925, in a bright studio on the banks of the Seine, a woman paints her self-portrait in which she appears nude. The artist and model is named Valeria.

In the spring of 1974, Olivia is about to graduate in Art History and accompanies her grandfather, an old antiquarian, to empty a flat that belonged to Lukas Hailer, an Austrian-born art dealer who has just passed away. To Olivia's surprise, behind a painting appears the oil painting of a naked woman that had been hidden for decades, a discovery that will be an edifying mirror and a great motivation for Olivia's life path, which will be marked forever.

From that moment on, Olivia will try to discover the origin of this mysterious work and the search will take her to the heart of the most bohemian Paris, in the middle of the 1910s.

El Temps:

“The novel vindicates the female artist not only as an object but also as a subject. Because beyond the muse there is the creative woman, with her own voice.”

Assiscla Xatot is born in Perpinyà in 1852 with a very special ability: a gift that allows him to acquire any language as soon as he hears a single word. Xatot is involved in the riots of the Paris Commune and is deported to New Caledonia, where he will be adopted by an indigenous clan and named his particular storyteller.

Following the patterns of picaresque and adventure novels, Joan-Lluís Lluís brings into question the survival of languages, what's evil, ambition, servility, colonialism, ideals betrayed, fate, chance, what is 'wild' and what is 'civilization'... all through a precise and beautiful language and an absorbent and fast-paced rythm.

Among the most classic adventure and the literary genre, a particular trip of a young Catalan with a unique talent.

Macip has climbed as a writer. The depth of the characters, their introspection, the network of relationships, conflict, reflection, social criticism dosed with aphorisms, are highlights that make a leap in quality.

To narrate, describe and communicate the anguish of those who experienced the accident in the first person. The pressure increases and Macip's book is read in a sitting.

Salvador Macip

(Blanes, Girona, 1970) has a doctorate in Medicine from the Universitat de Barcelona. He is a researcher and a writer. He moved to New York in 1998 to work as a researcher of molecular bases of cancer at the Mount Sinai Hospital. Since 2008, he continues his research at the University of Leicester (UK), where he directs the group of cell death mechanisms and is a professor of the Biochemistry Department. THE JURY:

A plot that not only manages the suspense masterfully but that also maintains the narrative tension increasing until the very end.

Salvador Togores, literary translator, goes to Switzerland to make a stay at a translator's residence just a year after his father's death. There, by surprise, he finds Bachtel, the famous writer who had disappeared from the public eye for many years and author of worship. In the past, Markus Bachtel had been a close friend of the Togores family, especially of the father, but the relationship broke up abruptly and painfully. During a series of nights, Bachtel, like a modern Sherezade, reveals the incredible story of his life and the reason for his escape and disappearance.

A novel on friendship, love and the limits of ambition.

This story collection is a great tribute to the free-spirited and gaze-free women, and especially the writers and artists, of all times and conditions.

“There is no gate, no lock, no bolt that you can set upon the freedom of my mind.” This quote by Virginia Woolf, one of the fourteen great women starring in these tales, would surely have been shared by all the others.

These stories that recreate different anecdotes in the history of women: the unforgettable conversation between Rosa Parks and Recy Taylor, Simone de Beauvoire’s bicycle accident, Caterina Albert’s most beloved collection, Anaïs Nin’s eroticism...

Albert Plans, recognized screenwriter, displays a narrative skill worthy of the best literary debuts in this road novel that does not give the reader respite.

Thriller, science fiction or dystopia? A novel that defies the concept of genre.

She doesn't remember anything. Sara woke up in an abandoned building a few days ago and her life has been a nightmare ever since. She is twenty, foreigner and now she is forced to wander around an increasingly dehumanized hostile Barcelona. Unaware that she is being watched and wanted dead, Sara looks for the clues to understand who she is, what happened, and why she has a power that makes her fearsome. Juli, a journalist in crisis capable of clinging to any powerful story, has witnessed this power, and with his help and that of Enric, a young man in love with her, Sara sets out for the most dangerous journey through a territory devastated by the ravages of climate change. With an agile style and a narrative skill worthy of the best literary debuts, Plans catches us in a brilliant road movie that gives the reader no respite.

In the middle of the night, at dawn, in the bathroom or under the furtive lamp in our room. We have been girls who read in the bathroom, between hiding and adventure, and we read and wrote exactly what we wanted at all times. What has happened, however, since then? When was it that someone began to tell us what was legible and what not, what could be written and that it was better for us to keep inside the drawer?

PORTELL CONFIRMS HIS LITERARY TALENT. ONE OF THE BEST NEWS THAT CATALAN LITERATURE HAS LIVED IN RECENT YEARS.

With echoes of Woolf's famous treatise on gender, Portell creates a human being that goes beyond gender dualities. Ariel is neither a man nor a woman, and cannot be defined with outdated lexicon.

When asked if he is a man or a woman, Ariel doesn't know what to answer. He has been told that he has a body and that this body could fall in love with other bodies, but Ariel's experience is always different. Ariel And the Bodies is the story of a character who exists and loves in a different, elusive, always provisional and disconcerting way.

Told in a series of psychiatric sessions, a madman's journal, poetic descriptive attempts, "soul footnotes", emails, letters never sent, drafts of a novel that reads like a dark fairy tale, and plenty of blank spaces.

AN ORIGINAL, IRREVERENT AND WITTY NOVEL BY ONE OF THE MOST BRILLIANT AUTHORS OF THE CURRENT CATALAN NARRATIVE.

A BARCELONA TALE WITH GOD AS THE STORYTELLER.

This is a Barcelona story told by a God in low hours that seeks the complicity of the reader to present Mr. Folch, a man born in 1942 in highly peculiar conditions and who is graceful with superhuman powers.

Bastard son of a despotic and unscrupulous bourgeois, Mr. Folch discovers that he has unusual powers. However, he does not take advantage of them the way his mentor and father in the shade, God, would like. Mr. Folch comes into contact with spiritualist circles and also with the clandestine struggle against dictator Franco. His life takes a turn when, as if he was a superhero, he feels called to save the city and the country.

Military, prostitutes, Wagnerians, gypsies, workers and maids, Mr. Folch's panorama seems far from victory, but he will make this corner of the world a little better.

Calvino's Palomar revives in Barcelona.

In Vallès' Palomar there is not only the Palomar of her Italian master. [...] He crossed paths with Zazie in the subway by Raymond Queneau or Monsieur Teste by Paul Valéry.

CORRIERE DELLA SERA

PERFECT BALANCE BETWEEN THE EASE OF THE HOW AND THE DEPTH OF THE WHAT, BETWEEN THE STORY AND THE FLÂNEUR'S MEDITATION.

One morning in August 2019, Mr. Palomar lands in Barcelona to settle in with his wife and daughter. And it is from here that we will follow him for a whole year, while he is dedicated to walking through a city that he looks at and studies, and where he lets himself be traversed by everything he sees. His walks allow him to measure the tiny details and Vallès' builds the perfect scenario where they are caught and turned into literary material.

Moved to Barcelona, Palomar is and is not that of Italo Calvino. Vallès' character is a new Palomar, not Calvino's follow up. As the author explains in the epilogue, "this book comes from a no", from the refusal to accept the character's death.

HIGH LITERARY TRAITS BLENDS WITH COMMERCIAL TO MAKE THE PERFECT NOVEL, BY ONE OF THE MOST ORIGINAL AND SOLID VOICES OF CONTEMPORARY CATALAN NARRATIVE.

A surprising novel, with humor and action, where science and the darkest arcana share a unique setting, haunting and full of beauty: the harsh mountains of the Pyrenees.

Spring of 1837: incredible events shake the severe mountains of the Pyrenees.

In 1997 Albert Villaró was municipal archivist of La Seu and he received from the hands of the widow of an antique collector the diary of Ulrich von Wilamovitz, a Prussian soldier, erudite violinist and botanist who participated in the First Carlist War. The notebook describes the incredible events that took place during the terrible spring of 1837 and that the soldier's unique traveling companions lived with him: Osinalde, a liberal doctor; the enigmatic Mina, their young guide; and Father Cebrià, a monk who escaped from the Montserrat monastery.

Núvol

Not a step back: the feminist revolution continues.

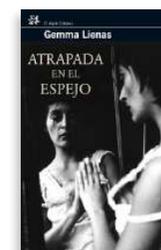

With this informative essay, Gemma Lienas continues to give voice to a feminism that does not want to be overshadowed. From the gaze of a girl who was born in the early 1950s, who was a young woman during the transition from dictatorship to the early years of democracy, and elder at the time of the organized attacks against feminism, the author evokes the history of a generation of women who fought for equality between women and men to be legal and real.

A book full of information, thoughtful, serene, personal, that portrays a historical struggle of some women who, like her, had to start breaking stones in a field in which the open roads were sporadic and that now, as older, continue in the fight and see the future somewhat uncertain.

Pages that are also intended to be a memory for young women, so that they do not forget that the rights won by women are fragile and can be lost at any time.

“The basic guide to understand the real danger of 21st century pests and invisible enemies.”

The fight of mankind against the invisible enemies.

COVID-19 has made us all aware of the fact that we live in a world full of invisible enemies. Normally, we don't even realize they're there, but from time to time one of these microscopic creatures becomes powerful enough to turn everything upside down. What are these invisible enemies, and how can we prepare ourselves for the pandemics of the future?

A specialist in the cellular biology of diseases, Salvador Macip explains, in a language everyone can understand, what it means to share the planet with millions of microbes – some wonderful allies, others terrible foes. He provides a concise account of epidemics that changed history, and focuses on the great modern plagues that are still causing millions of deaths every year, from influenza, TB and malaria to COVID-19.

THE MOST UP-TO-DATE BOOK ON VIRUS. THE REVISION OF MACIP'S CLASSIC WORK ON PANDEMICS.

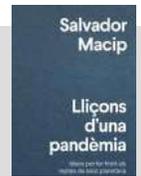

The book that collects everything we know about epidemics and pandemics. Macip shares his knowledge to all kinds of readers, objectively, because the information that reaches the public is not only deficient but also causes dangerous misunderstandings.

“A timely, authoritative and reader-friendly overview of pandemics past and present. This broad and balanced account is devoid of Anglo-American bias.”

Ideas to face planetary health challenges.

A lucid and didactic analysis on the management of the covid-19 pandemic.

Salvador Macip shares the keys to face future health crises.

We humans believe we are the masters of the planet, but a simple virus has made our reign shake. And that can happen again. What have we done wrong during the covid-19 pandemic and how should we organize ourselves to respond to the next health emergency? Through a lucid analysis of the main social and scientific factors of this crisis and with the best dissemination tools, the author offers us the keys to a necessary paradigm shift.

BIOETHICS DEBATE IS SERVED.

Pere is a neurologist. Punctual, methodical and cautious.

Jordi, optimistic and provocative, is a biologist and cancer researcher.

They work close by and always find the time to talk about what they are passionate about: genetic engineering, stem cell regenerative medicine, genomic tests... Where one sees the huge health benefits for people, the other he sees the risks of medicine at an economic, social and ethical cost not always achievable.

Will the biomedical revolution underway make it possible for us to live forever?

TWO SCIENTIFIC RESEARCHERS
PASSIONED ABOUT SHARING KNOWLEDGE.

–We cannot prevent someone from offering to genetically modify the cells with the excuse that something can be healed.

–But, Jordi, a CRISPR therapy to cure a disease is very different from modifying an embryo. This is what is done with these new cancer treatments.

–And, luckily, the vast majority of researchers are good people. Like you, Pere, and like me!

Cancer is, without a doubt, one of the most known and feared diseases. But what do we really know about it?

✓ THIS BOOK IS...

A reference for both patients and family members who want to know more, but also for anyone who is curious about one of the most complex and fascinating biological enigmas that exist.

✗ THIS BOOK IS NOT...

A guide of advice on how to act when someone suffers cancer. The only recommendation to give is “pay attention to your doctor”.

How many different types of cancer are there? When does it originate? What exactly happens in a cancer cell? What is chemotherapy? And the new targeted therapies? Are there natural remedies against cancer? Does it affect everyone equally? When can it be said that a cancer has healed?

This book wants to answer 100 essential questions about cancer that many people have surely made.

The best way to deal with cancer is to understand what it is and why it happens.

Adrià Pujol Cruells

(Begur, 1974).

Anthropologist and writer. He has published essay books, biographies and fiction. Difficult to classify by genre, among his many books published, stands out the autobiographical novel Picadura de Barcelona, La carpeta és blava or Guia sentimental de l'Empordanet. All books are always full of irony and humour. Recently, he has published a challenging and experimental book El fill del corrector / Arre, arre, corrector, considered by critics as a "magnificent book", "translinguistic experiment" or "utopian, written, rewritten, translated, comented... book".

AMAZING CONTENTS:

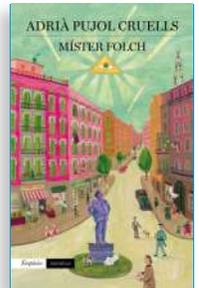

1. Sin, disease or system?
2. Origin of the sin of gluttony
3. Gluttony and women
4. Verborrhea and gluttony, to finish

The glutton is victim and guilty. Gluttony has gone from being an offense to God to being a social sin.

Except on that days when lack of control is allowed, and apart from those who have a bull thanks to their position, boundless gluttony is usually considered bad taste. Gluttony has mutated in disease: it has jumed from voluntary vice to hereditary misfortune, from the sin of the rich to the sin of all, from individual depravity to social tendency. We have socialized the virtues, but also the tares.

With highly expressive prose, Adrià Pujol makes a very unique journey around gluttony through the West literary, cinematographic, artistic and iconographic tradition.

A look backwards to a time and life in the Pyrenees of which practically no trace remains.

The chronicle of one of the most devastating tragedies in the history of the Pyrenees: the last person sentenced to death in Andorra.

This is the story of a fratricide that shook the Pyrenees.

In 1943, Andorra was trying to resist the attacks of the European powder keg. Spain was immersed in the worst post-war period, with the republican exodus underway and fascism prevailing proudly; France was under the occupation of Nazis, who were especially interested in the Andorran mountains. In this context, and in between them, the most notorious crime in the Andorran black chronicle took place. Months later, the brother who remained alive was sentenced to death and humiliated in the public square. Which death was more unfair? This book is the attempt to give an answer.

The Author

Iñaki Rubio

One of the most interesting authors of Andorran literature. He graduated in Humanities with extraordinary award, works for various Andorran media and is a member of the Andorran National Commission for UNESCO. But, above all, he is a first-rate narrator, he has been awarded and celebrated especially as a storyteller and today, with this chronicle, he is seen as a non-fiction author capable of taking us wherever he wants.
